2018 International Medical Missions

The Brown Medical and Educational (MAE) Foundation has two international medical missions planned for 2018.

The Foundation will be conducting 2 international medical missions. The Foundation's inaugural mission will be in Zambia, a southern African nation, in May 2018. The mission team will leave on May 21st, plan to start clinics on May 24th and will leave on May 30th. The team will work in Northern Zambia in a rural area with limited access to medical care.

The Foundation's second mission will be in the Dominican Republic starting July 29th and ending August 5th. The mission team will work in a rural Dominican Republic area close to the Haitian border. The team will be providing care to a population that has no local healthcare providers.

Dr. Brown in the Dominican Republic in 2007.

The Foundation is in need of mission attendees:

Attendees without medical training will assist with supplies distribution, clinic intake, and doing vital signs.

Attendees with medical training will provide medical care consistent with their training and assist with medication distribution.

The trip costs and other trip details can be found on the Foundation's website at www.brownae.org.

Scholarships

The Brown MAE Foundation is excited to offer scholarships in 2018.

The Norman O. Brown Scholarship will be presented to a graduating high school minority student who will be attending a 4-year university/college whose family meets the income requirement.

The Foundation will also offer scholarships to college or graduate students who are interested in a medical (including medical, nursing and allied health) and teaching careers. The applicants should have at least a 3.0 GPA.

Applications and further information can be found on the Foundation's website at www.brownae.org.

Making Lives Better

History: Dr. Monica Brown founded the M.L. Brown Foundation in August 2015 to meet the medical and educational needs of underserved communities of color nationally and abroad. It was renamed in late 2016 The Brown Medical and Educational (MAE) Foundation in honor of Dr. Brown's late mother Mae Z. Brown. The Foundation has been active in various communities, providing school supplies and medical services.

Core Values:

1. Commitment to service to the global community.
2. Dedication to mission driven endeavours.
3. To empower underprivileged and underserved communities to develop bright minds for great futures.

Community Events

The Brown MAE Foundation has several community service events planned in several locations including the Los Angeles area, St. Louis, and Houston.

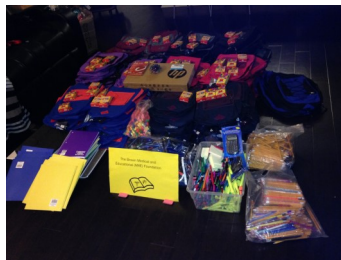

The Foundation has been partnering with several community organizations to donate school supplies, backpacks and laptop computers.

In 2016, the Foundation donated 215 backpack stuffed with school supplies, thousands pens/pencils and a laptop computer. These donations supported Greater Zion Church in Compton and the Empowerment Center in Lynwood, CA.

In 2017, The Foundation donated 210

backpacks, a large amount of school supplies and a laptop computer. These donations supported Greater Zion Church in Compton, the Friendship Church in Los Angeles and the Korey Johnson Foundation in St. Louis.

The Brown MAE Foundation looks forward to continuing school supply events as well as expanding to impactful events such as mentoring and community health education events.
